

Derin

Quality, Environment and Safety Policy

Our products and services provide a humane and relevant customer experience. This means that we only use high quality materials that are recyclable and renewable whenever possible. Each item of Derin furniture should deserve a place in the market. The design quality should be so high that the furniture will be attractive in the market for a long time to come. Furniture that you like and can use your whole life needn't be replaced which is good news for the environment.

We use carefully selected manufacturing techniques and aim to optimise our transport. The fact that all our furnitures are made in Turkey. It makes easier for us to check the entire manufacturing process from product idea to delivery to customers; as a result it is easier for our customers to make an environmentally aware choice.

Derin shall constantly aim to implement environmentally beneficial measures at all levels in the company and actively try to influence our suppliers, customers and other partners to become more enviromentally aware.

All Derin's activities shall be permeated by a level of environmental awareness that is based on a balance between what is environmentally justified, technically feasible and economically reasonable.

Derin shall comply with existing environmental legislation, regulations and other requirements that affect the company in applicable markets. Derin shall also prevent emissions of environmentally harmful pollutants whenever possible.

As far as technically feasible and economically viable, Derin shall minimise its raw-material consumption, transport and energy consumption. Derin's environmental policy reflects our current position and our visions for the future. We continually revise and update our environmental policy to ensure that we constantly set ourselves new goals. We use an environmental management system according to ISO 14001 and ISO 9001 to guarantee that we perform effective and well-structured environmental work.
